New Data and Reports

Sudden Unexplained Infant Deaths – The Kansas Experience

Every year in Kansas, the State Child Death Review Board studies every death to children under age 18. Their recent report on child deaths in 2015 (here) concluded:

"There were 23 SIDS cases in 2015, all of which were classified as SIDS II, indicating the presence of one or more elements of unsafe sleep."

Each year a little over 220 Kansas babies do not live until their first birthday. Nationally, that figure is about 24,500 babies dying before their first birthday. Of those infant deaths to Kansas babies, Sudden Unexplained Infant Death (SUID) occurs to over 40 babies a year. As the chart below shows SUID counts vary widely year to year.
